

Housewife On Council Asks Officials Resign

BELTON, Mo.—(P)—Mrs. Tillie Quick said today she hates to take issue with her friends but duty demands it.

Mrs. Quick, a 45-year-old housewife, is the first woman member of Belton's City Council. At her first Council meeting, she demanded that Mayor William V. Powell, Alderman Fred Folk, and J. Maurice Robie, superintendent of public works, resign.

She said the three officials had been doing business with the city (pop. 1,233). In Missouri, that's illegal.

"I don't have a thing against the mayor and the others," Mrs. Quick said today. "They've been my friends and I would like for them to remain my friends. I hope they will be—when this is all over."

"But I just had to set a few things straight. It seems to me that there's some skeletons which need to be dragged out of the Belton closet . . . and there's no better time than the present."

Mrs. Quick said she has written to Missouri Atty. Gen. John M. Dalton to find out how to get a state investigation of her three friends.

Mayor Powell, Alderman Polk and Robie said they have no intention of resigning. Powell admitted Mrs. Quick's charges, but said he acted in the city's interest.

Powell, a contractor, said he collected $1,889.81 for repairing City Hall but only after the city failed to get any bids on the work. Folk, an implement dealer, was accused of selling machinery parts to the city. He has remained silent. But Powell said the Council bought the parts from Folk because his prices were lower than those of other dealers.

Robie flatly denied Mrs. Quick's charge that he wrote a $70,000 insurance policy on City Hall and the city sewage disposal plant. In the first place, said Robie, the policy is for $144,000. In the second place his brother J. T. Robie wrote it.

The Battle of Trenton, Washington's first major victory in the Revolutionary War, lasted only 45 minutes.

Child's Kidney Transplanted To Woman Patient

BOSTON (P)—An Ohio woman without a kidney of her own has been kept alive for five weeks at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital with a kidney transplanted from an unrelated 4-year-old child.

This transplant is the first of its kind in medical history. Kidneys have been transplanted successfully between identical twins but never before between unrelated persons. The obstacle was the tendency of the recipient's body to reject the transplanted tissue.

But in the case of Mrs. Gladys Lowman, 31, Franklin, Ohio, kidney function has gradually increased though it is too early to predict success.

POLITICS—Taking issue with Meade Alcorn, the Republican national chairman, Eisenhower said he refuses to concede that it just isn't in the cards—as Alcorn put it yesterday—for the GOP to capture control of the Senate in the November elections.

Eisenhower noted that Alcorn reported to him yesterday before talking with newsmen. The President said he didn't know that Alcorn feels the way he does about GOP Senate prospects, because the chairman was most enthusiastic and encouraging in talking to him.

SUMMIT—Eisenhower said any Soviet effort to restrict attendance at a summit conference to U. S. and Russian representatives would be difficult to justify and could be interpreted as a Soviet move to divide and weaken the Western Allies.

Asked how he feels about the idea of his meeting alone with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, the President noted that this country has allies and said it will not attempt to speak for them in any such move to restrict the conference.

BOMBER FLIGHTS—Eisenhower strongly defended this country's right to conduct practice bomber flights in the polar region. Russia last week contended such flights in the direction of its frontier were provocative and later took the matter to the U. N. Security Council. The Soviet Union representative withdrew a censure resolution before a U. N. vote was reached.

Son Of Lana's Slain Lover Seeks $750,000 Damages

LOS ANGELES (P)—A $750,000 damage suit has been filed against Lana Turner, her daughter and her former husband over the slaying of her boy friend Johnny Stompanato.

The action was filed yesterday on behalf of Stompanato's 10-year-old son John III of Hammond, Ind. He lives with his mother Sarah Ibrahim, first of Stompanato's three wives.

Stompanato was stabbed in the abdomen in Lana's Beverly Hills home April 4. The actress' daughter Cheryl Crane, 14, told police she did it to protect her mother from Stompanato's threats of harm.

The damage suit alleges that because of Stompanato's death the son was "deprived of his father's financial help, services, assistance, society, comfort, companionship, protection and support."

The suit charged that Lana and Cheryl's father, Steve Crane, "failed, neglected and refused to exercise adequate guidance, proper or sufficient control" over the girl.

Other allegations were that Stompanato was lying down when stabbed, not advancing as Lana and Cheryl told police; that Lana and Cheryl committed assault and battery on Stompanato; that Lana was negligent in that she did not attempt to dissuade Cheryl from stabbing him; and that she falsely advised Cheryl that Stompanato had threatened her.

A coroner's jury held that the slaying was justifiable homicide. A juvenile court hearing is to be held tomorrow to determine what is to be done with Cheryl, who has been in custody since the killing.

NEW YORK (P)—Singer Paul Robeson will give his first program here in more than 10 years May 9 at Carnegie Hall.

The Negro basso will sing traditional songs and folk music and recite dramatic poetry. The recitations will include scenes from Shakespeare's "Othello," which he played on Broadway in 1943.

Robeson announced at the end of a concert in Salt Lake City in 1947 that he was retiring, at least temporarily, from concert work.

Morgantown To Vote On DST On June 3

MORGANTOWN (P)—City council announced that it would adopt Eastern Daylight Time at its June 4 meeting if Morgantown voters favor a shift from Eastern Standard Time in the June 3 municipal election.

Council, which met last night, reaffirmed its earlier vote to stay on EST at least until June 3. If voters favor last time, the council added it would adopt their wishes and put EDT in effect from June 8 to Sept. 23.

Finn Ouster Ruled Hasty, Will Return

WASHINGTON (P)—U. S. officials cleared the way today for William Heikkila to return home.

They conceded they acted too hastily in deporting him to Finland but vowed they will continue their 11-year fight to deport him on charges he was once a member of the Communist party.

Immigration Commissioner Joseph M. Swing authorized Heikkila's return at U. S. expense yesterday on grounds of a technical error.

Swing acted a few hours after Heikkila arrived in Helsinki in the midst of a sleet storm. The 52-year-old draftsman contended he had been kidnapped by U. S. immigration agents.

Heikkila was grabbed by agents as he emerged from his San Francisco office Friday and whisked off to Finland by way of Vancouver, B.C., and the Netherlands.

Informed of Swing's decision, Heikkila said he would return home at once. "I have only one desire in my heart—to return to my home and wife."

Boy, 15, Tries To Drug Nun; Facing Tests

WASHINGTON (P)—A 15-year-old youth was committed for mental observation yesterday after admitting an attempt to drug a sleeping nun with ether.

The boy told Juvenile Court Judge O. W. Ketcham that nuns at the St. Frances DeSales convent had "kept after me for weird things" during his years at the convent school.

His mother told Judge Ketcham her son had "piled up hatred" for the nuns "until it culminated in this tragic thing."

The offense took place on Saturday. The youth said he had used a duplicate key to enter the convent.

Over-all, rural crimes also outstripped city felonies last year, 11.1 to 8.9 per cent. Burglaries showed the biggest increase, 12.2 per cent. Murder and non-negligent manslaughter declined slightly, by sevenths of 1 per cent. Other categories showed these increases: auto thefts, 9.9 per cent; larcenies, 8.4; robbery, 8.2; rape and aggravated assault, 3.8; and negligent manslaughter, 1.6 per cent.

Of more than two million arrests for major and minor offenses, white persons accounted for 1,405,967 and Negroes 616,028. Of these, approximately one of every 10 was a woman.

Publisher Urges People Act To Curb Recession

NEW YORK (P)—The tide against the recession will be turned by a confident American people, fully informed of the facts, William Dwight, president of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn., said today.

Dwight, publisher of the Holyoke (Mass.) Transcript-Telegram, took sharp issue with anyone who would suppress recession news.

"A constructive and confident attack on the recession cannot be made by throwing sand in the public's eyes or by asking it to bury its head like an ostrich," Dwight told the association's annual convention in a prepared address.

"From all sides the people are being asked to show confidence, but who is showing confidence in the people? The newspapers are, when they lay the facts before them."

Dwight said decisions by the executive branch of government or legislation by Congress cannot by themselves turn the tide.

"A confident American people will," he said.

Dwight said American newspaper publishers believe that the people must have the truth and that they can take it.

Why Should God's Ministers Wear Uniforms?

There's no law in the Episcopal Church which says that a clergyman should wear a "backwards collar". There's no requirement that he and his service assistants should wear vestments.

"All right," you ask, "why do they do it?" We could answer by saying simply that it is custom, tradition. But there's more reason than that. One is that although he's still human, and you'll find that most Episcopal clergymen are very human, he is called to a peculiar and exacting task. The very fact that he's in "uniform" makes him available to be called upon to perform many services, to be of help to many people he could never otherwise reach. To a person in spiritual need that "uniform" can be as helpful as is the uniform of the "cop" on the corner.

We like clerical dress (and service vestments, too) because we feel they symbolize the importance of the task, and not the individual performing the task. The job is the thing, not the doer of the job.

In the Episcopal Church, you'll probably find a greater proportion of "church followers" and a smaller proportion of "preacher followers" than you'll find in any other church. The church and its worship are more important than the preacher.

Come and worship with us—soon—in the Episcopal Church near you. You'll see what we mean.

OUR COUNTRY

The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union forever.—Morris.

One Way Street

AMID ALL THE clamor in the past few months for government action to halt the recession, the administration has repeatedly voiced its fear that hasty and excessive measures might well cure the disease but kill the patient. Far worse than the recession has been so far would be another upward and onward spiral of inflation. Certain signs seem to indicate that the old bogey of inflation may still be lurking just behind the scenes. We all know what inflation is, what it does to our pocketbooks. In general, however, wage rises have kept fairly even pace with rising prices for most of the population.

BUT THERE IS another aspect of inflation and the accompanying demands for higher wages—not affecting too many Americans as yet, but a very real threat nevertheless. American workmen, enjoying the highest wages in the world, can be pricing themselves out of the market in the face of rising competition from foreign countries. This is maintained by Roger M. Blough, chairman of U. S. Steel Corporation. In the past, America's lead in technological know-how overcame the disparity between the wages of American workers and those of foreign workers. But now that lead is rapidly being overtaken by other nations, says Mr. Blough. Higher protective tariffs offer no permanent solution, he asserts.

RAISING THE standard of living is one thing. But raising the cost of production without a corresponding increase in productivity is placing the producer—and the worker—at a competitive disadvantage. Government has a vital obligation, says Blough, to re-examine tax laws which discourage investment and expansion. But the final decision rests with the American workman himself—to keep wage costs in line with productivity. If not, he warns, "... then I am very much afraid that the great St. Lawrence Seaway—when it opens next year—will be nothing more than a one-way street ... westbound!"

Workers' Paradise

"THE DICTATORSHIP of the proletariat" has long been the official description of the Communist movement. If this means anything, it means that conditions are at least slanted on the side of the worker. If Communism has any merit, workmen should be better off in Russia than elsewhere. This does not show up in figures. Lincoln White, State Department press officer, says that in the United States the unemployed worker gets approximately $35 a week. If he has a job, of course he does much better. Compare this with Russia. There the fully employed worker averages only $24 a week, substantially less than average unemployment pay in this country. Which of the two is the "workers' paradise?"

FRIENDLINESS results from rubbing elbows with other people instead of holding them at arm's length.

Reprint Rights

THE ILLUSTRATED monthly magazine USSR, written in English, appears to have met with some success in the United States. The magazine, published in this country by the Soviet Embassy, is printed through reciprocal agreement with our government. Similarly, the U. S. publishes the magazine Amerika in Russia. The Russian publication has rather a folksy tone. The articles are profusely illustrated, and there is hardly an unsmiling face in all its pages. The note of jolly good friendship is carried through with this sentence on the title page: "Anything in this issue may be reprinted or reproduced with due acknowledgment to the magazine USSR." Dandy! Maybe we'll run a few reprints one of these days—say the day after Pravda or Izvestia begin reprinting pieces from Amerika.

Life Can Be Nice Even For Reporters

WASHINGTON—If J. Robert Oppenheimer will only be patient a little longer, he has it on the word of White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty that a dandy government job is about to open up here for a man of Oppenheimer's intellectual caliber.

Speaking at the Women's National Press Club dinner for editors, Hagerty undertook to show how life can be beautiful even for reporters by describing "the next White House Press Secretary." In the popular new space prose, he sketched a type roughly resembling the valedictorian of the Institute of Advanced Studies at Princeton where Dr. Oppenheimer now sits and thinks for everybody but Lewis Strauss.

This 1960 paragon, according to Hagerty, should know at least one foreign language and enough science and economics to guide reporters on their coverage of world-wide instantaneous broadcasts to be relayed around the world from earth satellites.

HAGERTY also broke the bad news to Burning Tree, the Augusta Golf Club and other haunts of such relatively elemental pos-times as golf and bridge. The next President, he said, would be busy whirling around the world on jet airplanes handling matters of vital import to the whole race of man including the Hottentots.

Hagerty's opening remarks appeared to indicate his view that night school couldn't start too soon for the kind of reporters he was accustomed to dealing with. He was only getting some of his own back, however, when he quoted their silly questions to him, and considering what has often happened to him at their hands he was well within his rights.

IT WAS THE serious Hagerty who shook the old front-page types in his audience. They don't really care whether he can speak French or Vietnamese if he will only speak up and allow others involved in the passing scene to do so.

He will be freely forgiven for not understanding the Galtier Report if he will arrange to have the White House let go of it. Reporters will explain to him the economics of the Atomic Energy Commission acting as a power broker in the Dixon-Yates contract if he will persuade Sherman Adams to discuss with them the part Adams played in it.

Nobody expects the Press Secretary to be a doctor, but they would like access to the doctors who have treated the President in his last two illnesses and are treating him now.

THE EXTENT to which Hagerty acts as a maker of news and policy rather than as a conduit for it has long distressed many reporters. He remains extremely efficient in the technical aspects of news gathering and dissemination, but more and more reporters are shut out from the kind of give and take with Administration officials which enables them to achieve an insight into the news.

Information is not too hard to get in this teeming bureaucracy. Hagerty is an expert at feeding it out. What counts is the chance to dig for what is left unsaid and the demagogue of the witness as he explains his position.

It is indeed a new world and reporters need to be reminded of it, but some problems of their trade remain the same.

Pressure Not Likely To Bring Tax Cut

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson made another pitch to go slow on tax cuts before the American Society of Newspaper Editors here. This was a follow-up on President Eisenhower's statement to his press conference a couple of days before. Only when the President is convinced that a tax cut will be for the benefit of the United States will he recommend that it be taken up.

If the President and Secretary Anderson can convince the newspapers and their readers that this isn't the time for tax cuts, it will help. But pressure is growing from other tax experts that now is the time.

Former Federal Reserve Board Chairman Marriner Eccles wants an immediate seven-billion-dollar tax cut. Ex-President Harry Truman would settle for five. But they're both Democratic administration officials.

MOST damaging to the Republican position is the recent speech of Dr. Arthur F. Burns, calling for an immediate, broadly based, permanent cut of five billion. And the report of the Rockefeller Brothers Fund, Inc., which called for immediate cuts in personal and corporate income taxes of five to seven billion dollars.

Dr. Burns was Ike's Council of Economic Advisers chairman from 1953 through 1955. More than that, Dr. Burns is the guy now being given, or who takes, credit for recommending the 7.5-billion-dollar tax-cut program which is said to have ended the 1953-54 recession.

The idea is that if it worked once, it ought to work again. But as a matter of record, a lot of that previous big tax-cut program was accidentally coincidental with the end of the 1954 slump.

Part of this tax cut came through the omnibus tax reform bill of 1954. The Eisenhower administration started to work on that as soon as it hit town in 1953, before there was any post-Korean war recession.

Other cuts of the time came largely through expiration of Korean war tax-rate increases which were simply allowed to die about the time that the recession got bad.

BOTH HAD the effect of increasing purchasing power and giving business a much-needed shot in the arm. Also, these tax cuts were cited by Republican campaign orators as a principal cause for the Eisenhower prosperity of 1956.

The Eisenhower administration has another opportunity to cash in on a tax-cut windfall this year.

Unless extended by Act of Congress, the 52 per cent corporate income tax rate will drop to 47 per cent June 30. This would cost the Treasury three billion dollars. It would help business, though not individual income taxpayers.

Consumers would benefit directly, however, from expiration of the Korean war high rates on alcohol, cigarette, automobile and other federal excise taxes. Allowing them to slip back to prewar levels would cost the Treasury another 900 million dollars.

One drawback is that none of this relief would become effective before July 1. That might be too late if the recession shows signs of being over before that time.

ALSO, President Eisenhower's budget message of last January recommended that both of these Korean war tax rate schedules be continued. Secretary Anderson, in his statements before Congress, has reiterated this policy. And his talk here before the editors indicates no change.

What the recession curbers by the tax-cut route want is a cut in individual income taxes that will put spending money in the pockets of millions of people, quick.

One formula is to increase personal exemptions from $600 to $700. This would cost the Treasury 2.75 billion and give the average taxpayer about $60 more a year to spend.

The other formula is to cut individual tax rates on the first $1,000 of net income from 20 to 15 per cent. This would cost the Treasury 3.5 billion dollars and give the average taxpayer about $80 a year more to spend.

Since the 1954 recession wasn't as bad as this year's decline, advocates of the tax cut say there

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK—Bill Fain is working on a third novel now, and if it is as successful as "The Lizard's Tail" and the just-released "Cheers, Major Barlow," he will have a sum of dollars high and wide enough to go along with the newest career in his life: horse-owning. Not just plain horses, but thoroughbreds. Racing horses. At which, unless other amateurs are timid about venturing in, he is doing just fine.

IT IS ALWAYS questionable for anyone to tell an established author what to do next. But if William Fain ever asked me, I'd suggest that his fourth book be "The Myriad Lives of William Fain." He's been a reporter, a script writer for newsreels, a rewrite man on a New York paper, a magazine short story writer and, now, novelist and horse owner. He owns three horses and did have a fourth. Indeed, a fifth. One of them is as slippery as an eel.

Fain was brought up in and around horses, but not racing horses. He was brought up in Greenwich, Conn., where his father was lawyer and gentleman enough to both afford and be acceptable to the Westchester and Fairfield Hounds, to which he rode.

BY THE TIME young Fain was old enough to put on a pink coat and ride to hounds, he was off getting an education. And then he had a living to make. And then he started writing, only to have World War II crop up to drop a sashweight on that career.

He ended up in London as a public relations officer and when he got back he went newspapering and dreaming. He also violated the First Law of novelists. His first book was not autobiographical. The new one, "Cheers, Major Barlow," can be described as possibly autobiographical in parts. Thus, it is the second novel that contains, again possibly, fragments of Fain.

It is about PROs in London just prior to the Invasion. It is uncommonly funny, bright with wit, contains elements of tenderness and compassion, and is a bang-up, fine job of writing.

"I GOT INTO owning horses by playing horses," he said the other afternoon. "I started playing horses while writing, as a sort of escape valve mechanism from the hard work of punching a typewriter. It was a good escape. It cleared the mind and sharpened the wits. I have to say that I did well at it. I was never destroyed or even much bruised."

"This resulted in my thinking that the best thing of all would be to own horses. I had a little money and I claimed Ramrod."

Coal Men Don't Burn Coal

WASHINGTON—Ran into Rex Chaney, the big coal man, and he was bemoaning the fact that nobody but coal men seem to be interested in coal.

I told him it did seem like a dusty subject and he said that was where I was wrong. He hauled from his pocket a photograph of a steam shovel (run by electricity) now digging coal from a strip mine near Freeburg, Ill.

Chaney said the Russians have nothing like this. This shovel is 14 stories high. It is so tall that the fellow who operates it rides an electric elevator to get to his seat. Every bite he takes weighs 105 tons.

THAT, I HAD to agree, is some stovel. Chaney, who is an official of the National Coal Association, said some more of his boys were shipping coal experimentally in a 100-mile pipeline in Ohio. They crush the coal, mix it with water and pour it into the pipe. This works fine until the coal gets to the end. Then it's got to be dried and the experts haven't quite perfected that yet.

Coal miners, said Chaney, now are the highest paid industrial workers in the world. They get $4.06 an hour, and because of this John L. Lewis, the union chieftain, lately has been a benign labor mogul. This leader of some of the country's bitterest strikes has't even lifted one of his celebrated eyebrows in years.

is all the more reason for using this pump-priming method now.

with my wife. She is an Italian and very smart. She works at translating Italian books into English and finds it a happy job. Also lucrative. So we partnered in claiming Ramrod.

"Were we shorn and disillusioned? Not at all. We claimed the horse in 1956 and by 1957 he had won $30,000 in purses. He then had the misfortune to break a leg and had to be destroyed."

"LEARNING to own a thoroughbred wasn't difficult, either. You simply study the field and do a survey job. In time you decide, on the basis of reports, on a trainer. We use Mickey Carroll. Your trainer makes the arrangements between jockeys and their agents for riders for your horse. We have had good ones: Eddie Arcaro, Ray Broussard, Ted Atkinson, and so on. "Arcara won for us up on Ramrod. At the moment, Atkinson is taking care of a disappointment for us. We bought a little French colt named Dolman and it hasn't done anything like we hoped. Maybe foreign horses don't transplant well over the long haul. I don't know. But we have put him with Atkinson on the rider's farm at Syosset and hope for improvement."

"WE CONVERT platters to stake horses, as a philosophy. At Jamaica right now we have Monday Morning and My Son Tom. We claimed Monday Morning from Mr. Ambassador Whitney's stable, Greentree, and My Son Tom from Hirsch Jacobs. The other day it won over another Jacobs horse, which made us feel good and gave us some confidence in our judgment."

"We have lost our most slippery horses, at least for the moment. We claimed Andre once and then lost him and reclaimed him three times. He was claimed in Florida this last season and the reclaim price is a little stiff for us. We think we'll let him stay there, at least for awhile."

"RAMROD's loss was a blow. We claimed him for $6,000 and in the year of life left to him, as I said, he won $30,000 in purses. I never tell any writer, bitten by the same hunger, that the purse is all. I like to say $30,000 in purses, but out of that came training fees, riding fees, stable and keep fees. So you don't end up with a hatful of profit. But there is no joy like having just a few good horses and having them do well. I honestly don't know of a joy to compare with it."

"Not even writing a best-seller."

"That's a different joy. And you have to do the work for that. A horse can't."

PARIS—The Folies Bergere is back and nuder than ever, right from the opening curtain.

French law requires at least a G-string, and the famed show complies. But the G-strings are so small the girls can take them home in a compact.

The Folies Bergere closed its doors some four months ago when 67 stagehands demanded more money.

Manager Paul Derval, who spends half a million dollars on each show, said he had no more money for the stagehands. He let the impression spread that the theater might not reopen.

It was enough for the stagehands. They quickly compromised to the relief of thousands of people around the world whose memory of "Gay Paree" most likely includes visions of leggy nudes from the lavish show.

THIS YEAR'S IS about the most risqué show ever produced at the Folies. It gets started with a nude girl dancing by a river bank. Along comes a young boy similarly clothed for a dimly lit dance.

There are splendid costumes, dazzling illuminations, intricate and beautiful settings, beautiful girls, poor music, and worse dancing.

Derval invented this type show right after World War I and it made the Folies famous the world over.

"What they want," he once said, "are two or three striking effects, feathers, rhinestones and girls, sumptuously costumed or gloriously undressed."

Each tableau is a deluge of color, ostrich feathers, and brocade. More than 1,000 pounds of feathers were used in this year's costumes and several hundred miles of material are draped over the 100 girls who troop about the stage.

THE MOST impressive effect this season is a huge chandelier which descends from the ceiling bearing eight long-limbed girls wreathed in smiles but nothing more.

There is also a pool filled with water in every Folies show. This season Derval has two boys diving in with lit candles. They emerge with the candles still burning brightly. Don't ask how it's done.

What the Folies seems to lack is a real star like the famed Mistinguett. For several years Derval has been pushing red-haired Yvonne Menard to that coveted position.

Derval's efforts have not been altogether successful. Yvonne lacks the bouncy character of a Mistinguett and admits herself that she can't sing.

She is witty and graceful, however, and sheds her costumes in an acceptable manner. She displays all her charms in one of Derval's most striking scenes showing the balcony of a Riviera palace in the wee hours. Yvonne appears in a lavish costume, bathed in soft lights. Soon she is just bathed in soft lights.

Seats in the main hall sell for 2.25 francs, slightly over five dollars. A big share of the audience today is made up of Americans, tourists and many GIs on leave.

A sign at the entrance says in English, "Beware. Do not drop chewing gum on the carpets." There is no such sign in French. (Associated Press)

MONTREAL—I came up here to Canada's largest metropolis on a special train and am virtually sleeping over with nostalgia. There are two major reasons for this overwelling of sentimental memory: It is the first time I've been on a special train since Thomas E. Dewey's second run for the Presidency. It's the first time I've been on my native heath since I sneaked out on Estes Kefauver when he was running for something or other two years ago.

I came up here because Conrad Hilton was opening his newest hotel, the Queen Elizabeth, or Le Reine Elizabeth, as we old habitués call it. I like to come to hotel openings because it's a refreshing switch. Most places that I go, close.

First, however, I would like to discuss the train, because it was a wonderful anachronism. It was comfortable, and the service was fast and good. It was a Canadian train, and the Canadians, being a backward people, have not yet begun to discourage railroad passenger service.

I MADE THE first part of this trip on one of our "de luxe" trains from Washington to New York and would have been more comfortable in a backboard. We were well past Trenton before I could even get a churlishly-served hamburger. But, after switching to the Canadian National train in Pennsylvania Station, I had everything I wanted, and well on the way to too much, before we cleared the Bronx.

I am afraid that the campaign of the U. S. railroads to discourage passenger service is doomed to success, but I can't be enthusiastic about it. I used to love trains, especially campaign trains. I'd almost have been glad for Dewey to run a third time, if he'd used a train.

I'd never have left Kefauver's tour two years ago if he'd been on a train. But he flew. When his plane got to Buffalo, I sneaked to Toronto, knowing I could pick him up again, any place, in a few hours. Why I would want to, I can't recall, however.

BUT LET'S GET back to the nostalgia: Being back in the country of my birth gave me a homey feeling. In the new hotel I saw so many homey faces—Sir Cedric Hardwicke, speaking English to Movie Stars Jeanne Crain and Vera-Ellen, who marveled at his strange accent; Leo Carrillo, in a bright yellow Mexican cowboy outfit, and Lauritz Melchior in white tie and extremely spreading tails.

A boyhood friend of mine came to the hotel to see me. His name is Frank Hynds, so naturally we used to call him "Pickles." I presented "Pickles" to some of the stars of stage, screen, and radiator, figuring to impress him, but all he did was shake his head and deplore that I'd fallen into fast company.

I introduced him to Mimi Benzell, the singer, and it was a big moment for Mimi. "Pickles" grasped both her hands and informed her he used to be quite a singer himself—at the East Toronto Canoe Club. "Pickles" also established an affinity with Miss Virginia Warren, daughter of our Chief Justice, by telling her he had once loved with the idea of running for justice of the peace.

I tell you, there's nothing like recapturing old times.

STOREROOM LEASED—The Cumberland Cloak and Suit Company has leased the storeroom formerly occupied by the Wunder Shoe Store and plans to open it as an annex of the main store. New fixtures and equipment are being secured and the addition is expected to be open for business late next month.

DISPENSARY ADDED—A dispensary—a long felt want—has been installed at Allegany Hospital, and Sister Margaret, superintendent, is taking pride in showing it to interested visitors.

HISTORY PUBLISHED—The story of Cumberland's celebration of the Washington Bicentennial last year is completely and interestingly told in the report of Mrs. James Walter Thomas, written on behalf of the Cumberland Committee and published in a 40-page booklet handsomely bound and beautifully illustrated.

THREE IN MAYOR RACE—Indications point to a hot campaign in Lonaconing's municipal election May 2. William F. Lyden filed for mayor before the midnight deadline last night, the third candidate for that position. He will oppose incumbent Adam Byers and Hugh R. Muir.

GRAND JURY AT WORK—The grand jury is hard at work and it is not known when that body will be able to adjourn. It was stated at the court house today that there had been more than 400 witnesses summoned.

PARK NEEDS ARCH—Officer Bowen has Riverside Park looking as pretty as can be, but it would add greatly to the appearance of the pleasure resort if an arch, no matter how simple in design, was raised over the entrance.

SIGNS LIABILITY BILL—President Roosevelt yesterday signed the employee's liability bill making railroads and other common carriers engaged in interstate commerce liable for the injury or death of an employee while at work.

RECOMMENDATION LIST—Eight men were recommended for mayor, and 23 for councilman posts, at a lively meeting of the Citizens Independent League last night. It had been assumed the league would submit a slate of officers, instead of making the recommendations.

Russell, vice president; Mrs. Dave Kline, treasurer; Mrs. Carlton Brinsfield, secretary; Mrs. George Garlitz, transportation; Mrs. Buford Saville, ways and means; Mrs. William Scott, equipment and house; Mrs. Robert Garner, special events, and Mrs. Richard Schwab, publicity.

Auditor Lists Data On City Tax Receipts

As the third quarter of the fiscal year for the City of Cumberland ended March 31 collections of the tax levy reached 97.38 per cent and 83.4 per cent of its total levy.

Spending from funds appropriated for city operations totaled $31,607.02 to come in from the $1,207,630 tax levy.

Most of the uncollected taxes are represented by corporation taxes, which are billed as assessments and are received from the state.

Total collections toward the all-time high levy of $2,005,860 were $1,176,841.72. This leaves $828,569.32 to come in from the levy and there is a $3,551.04 item in the excess collection column, resulting from a higher than expected cut from the state's racing income.

Expenditures by the various city departments was $1,063,116.24. This represents 63.91 per cent of the $1,663,326.75 appropriated and is well below the 75 per cent par.

Most departments appeared to be operating within their budgets. The north wing of the U.S. Capitol in 1800 was occupied by the Senate, the House of Representatives, the Supreme Court and the Library of Congress. The north wing was the only part of the building then completed.

Frostburger Gets Hearing In Gun Theft

Bond Set $1,000 For McClintock On Grand Larceny

Richard Harris McClintock, 24, Frostburg, was ordered held for action of the October grand jury on a charge of grand larceny yesterday afternoon in Trial Magistrate Court. Bond was set at $1,000.

McClintock was given a preliminary hearing before Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick. The defendant was represented by attorney Milton Gerson. The defendant was charged specifically with the theft of a $114 shotgun on April 4 from Sears Roebuck Company where he was employed as division manager of the sporting goods department.

County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya testified that McClintock admitted numerous thefts from the store over a period from March 21 to April 18.

City police who did most of the ground work in recovering much of the stolen property returned nine rifles and shotguns, five revolvers and pistols and numerous fishing rods, reels, creels, waders and two 8 mm. movie cameras to the store.

Mr. Lilya further testified that McClintock admitted taking a 12-gauge shotgun and a .22 caliber automatic rifle from the store and that the weapons later were stolen from him. He also said the defendant remembered selling another revolver but could not tell to whom the sale was made.

The total value of the recovered items, all of which had been sold by McClintock to various persons for reduced prices, was $1,363.50. Lilya told the court.

The Senior Citizens Club will hold a Coin Week program at a meeting tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the Elks Club.

A question and answer period will be held at the end of the meeting. Dorn will show the same slides at a meeting of the coin club today at 7:30 p.m. at the City Hall.

The public may attend the meeting which will be on the National Coin Week theme, "Around the World with Coins."

Members of the Recreation Department staff have prepared a coin week exhibit in the Conlon Travel Agency window, and members of the club have prepared coin displays in the windows of downtown banks.

Mason Finds Different Role With Driver

Donald W. Mason, assistant state's attorney, yesterday found himself in a different role when he prosecuted a motorist he had sentenced several months as a Trial Magistrate.

Mason, as a magistrate in Trial Magistrates Court on January 6, sentenced William Watson Whorton, 27, to 18 months in the Maryland House of Correction on three motor vehicle law violations.

Whorton had pleaded guilty to driving on a revoked license, a fifth offense, and to reckless driving. He pleaded not guilty to exceeding 70 miles per hour but was found guilty by Mason. The magistrate then sentenced the motorist to six months on each charge, the sentence to run consecutively. The sentence was appealed.

The charges were filed by State Trooper K. W. Messmer, after Whorton's car collided with the Police cruiser on Polish Mountain during a chase on January 4.

Yesterday Mr. Mason, now Allegany County's assistant state's attorney, represented the state on Whorton's appeal hearing.

The defendant pleaded guilty to operating a car on a revoked license and to reckless driving and the state dismissed the exceeding 70 miles per hour charge.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris suspended a six-month sentence on the first count, placing Whorton on probation for two years and ordered him not to drive a car during that time. He handed the defendant a 30-day sentence to the Allegany County Jail on the second charge.

Health Center For Allegany Area Needed

State Health Agency Lists Counties Which Need New Facilities

The State Health Department reports that Allegany County is one of 10 Maryland counties which have the greatest need for health centers.

Others in the group are Worcester, Howard, Charles, Talbot, Dorchester, Cecil, Somerset and Calvert counties and Baltimore City.

The health department report also indicated that Maryland needs 12,384 beds in its mental, general, chronic disease hospitals and in its nursing homes.

The state also needs 11 public health centers, 27 diagnostic and treatment centers and seven rehabilitation centers.

These figures are according to U. S. Public Health Service standards. The needs were presented in the 1958 revision of the Hospital and Medical Facilities Survey Plan for Maryland.

The State Health Department, which administers the plan for construction of hospitals and other medical facilities, must prepare a revision each year. This is to qualify for Federal funds.

Since 1948, when the program began, an estimated $11,864,000 of Federal money has been used to help in the construction of facilities costing a total of about $71,862,000.

Given A-or top-priority for new hospital facilities in the 1958 revision plan are Charles, Montgomery, Prince George's, Calvert and Frederick counties.

In the B category, for new hospital facilities are Somerset, Kent, Queen Anne's, Wicomico, Worcester, Dorchester and St. Mary's counties in addition to the Baltimore base area. This is comprised of Baltimore city, Harford, Carroll, Howard, Anne Arundel and Baltimore counties.

Board Approves Repair Project At Court House

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday approved repairs to a secret gutter atop Court House roof.

John Brinker, of 517 Oldtown Road, has agreed to repair the gutter for $597.60 which is to be paid him in cash upon completion of the work.

In a letter to the commissioners, Brinker agrees to repair the gutter from the southeast corner roof eave joining slate roofing to the gable facing south over the present leaks in the gutter. He will also replace bad slate with new slate of the same quality and size.

The commissioners also received a letter from Hazel S. Bottenfield, of Flintstone, who complains of the dust on the Cemetery Ridge Road or Upper Flintstone Creek Road. She said residents along the road forward a petition to the commissioners last fall asking that something be done to the road used by so many people.

"The dust is suffocating to residents as well as the hapless individual who may find himself driving behind another vehicle," she pointed out.

"Since the road is in excellent condition without further expenditure for widening etc.," she said, "we would all be happy if this re-surfacing could be done this year."

The matter was referred to J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor.

New Church Being Built At Short Gap

Population Trebles In Region Served By Wesley Chapel

A new building is being constructed at Short Gap, W. Va., by the Robeson Construction Company of Cumberland for the Wesley Chapel Methodist Church congregation.

The new building is 40 by 80 feet in size and is situated at the junction of W. Va. State Route 28 and the Pinlo Road on land purchased by the congregation from the old Blaich properties.

The tract includes three acres and an ample parking area is included in the overall project, plus space for future expansion of the edifice.

Members of the congregation explain that the old church is located in a hazardous area with little room for parking or expansion. The building was no longer adequate to meet the needs of an enlarged congregation in a growing community. Population in this area has tripled since the end of World War II, members claim.

A cornerstone ceremony will be held Sunday at 2:30 p.m. Baker Brelsford, secretary of the church building committee, said the ceremony will be open to the public.

Rev. Alonzo Harman, pastor, will be in charge of the program. The speaker will be Rev. L. E. Crowson, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, Piedmont.

It is hoped to have the major part of the project completed by midsummer, or early fall at the latest, Brelsford said.

Church To Hold Spring Crusade

Second Baptist Church will hold its annual spring evangelistic crusade, beginning Sunday and continuing through May 4, according to Rev. Cornelius B. Davis, pastor.

The evangelist will be Rev. Vander Warner, pastor of Pocomoke City Baptist Church, and the services will begin at 7:30 p. m. daily. Nurseries will be conducted for the babies and small children during the services, Rev. Mr. Davis said.

Music will be under direction of Miss Grace Swanson, and will feature selections by children and adult choirs, as well as ensemble groups.

Man Receives Year Term On Embezzling

Court Critical Of Operation Of Rose Hill Cemetery

George W. Landis, 41, who was superintendent of Rose Hill Cemetery, today was sentenced to one year in the Maryland penitentiary for embezzling $1,944.50 from the vestry of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, operators of the cemetery.

Landis, a native of Luke, was head of the cemetery from October, 1952 to April, 1956. During this four-year period the embezzling took place, according to the indictment.

A plea of guilty was entered for Landis by Attorney Harold E. Naughton, who was appointed by the court to defend him. Landis was returned here from Florida, where he was located several months ago.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in sentencing Landis stated: "This is a serious charge and is a felony. While the court isn't bound by the penalty in the statute of three to 15 years it still remains a serious charge."

"If the court doesn't mete out penalties it encourages people who are in position of trust to do as Landis has done. This is not a crime committed on the spur of the moment or in hot blood, but one done over a period of four years. The court has to consider that Landis has no prior record, but at the same time that other people in positions of trust must be given notice that no such actions will be permitted."

"The cemetery association certainly is not to be commended for the way it transacts its business. Here is a business with an income of $12,000 annually which placed an employee in full charge without anybody checking on how it was operated. There was no audit nor anybody attempting to place a guiding hand on the business. It actually was a temptation to a man, particularly one short of funds."

"This does not absolve Landis from his actions. He is to blame for what he has done."

Woman Killed In Accident Near Bedford

Mrs. R. Irene Crum, 60, Johnstown, Pa., was killed instantly yesterday when a station wagon in which she was riding was struck from behind by a truck on Route 220, eight miles south of Bedford.

Three persons were injured, including Mrs. Jessie G. Lynch, 36, of Ayer, Mass., who is reported in "good" condition at Bedford County Memorial Hospital.

Pennsylvania State Police, who investigated, said an inquest will be held at a later date.

Also injured were David Harr, 26, of 117 Frick Avenue, Johnstown, who sustained a laceration on top of his head, and Raymond Edward Eversole, 43, of RD 3, Keyser, W. Va., driver of the truck, who sustained a bruised hip.

Harr's wife, who was a passenger in the station wagon with her husband, was uninjured, police said. The victim was riding in the left rear of the vehicle when it was struck from behind by the truck owned by Faulk Brothers of Keyser.

Police said Mrs. Lynch was driving south on the highway and had stopped to allow a vehicle in front of her to make a right turn into a private driveway.

Meanwhile the truck, operated by Eversole, also travelling south, rammed into the rear of the station wagon. About $2,000 damages was caused to the station wagon and about $1,000 damages to the truck, said police.

As 23,000 residents received seals, there are still more who could mail in their dollar to help the league meet its goal of $12,000.

Cancer Film Seen Aid To Fund Drive

Interest in the house-to-house canvass for funds next Tuesday, April 29, by Allegany County Chapter, Maryland Division, American Cancer Society, has been spurred by the showing of the Society's latest educational film, "Time and Two Women," according to Dr. Benedict Sklar, chairman of the 1958 Cancer Crusade in Allegany County.

Another capacity crowd of women witnessed the screening of the movie last night at the Piedmont Presbyterian Church where the program was presented under sponsorship of the Social Welfare Club for the women of Piedmont, Westernport and Luke.

Today at 7:30 p. m. the movie will be shown at Cresaptown School under sponsorship of the Cresaptown and Potomac Valley Lay Health Group with Dr. Sklar again conducting a question and answer period.

Tomorrow the film will be presented at Central Elementary School, Lonaconing, at 7:30 p. m. with Morning Star Temple 100 Pythian Sisters, the sponsoring organization.

Members of Morning Star Temple will conduct the house-to-house solicitation in the Lonaconing area next Tuesday. Last night this group raised approximately $500 during the Cancer Crusade.

Another showing of the film is scheduled for Monday at 7:30 p. m. at St. Georges Episcopal Church, Mt. Savage. It has already been shown in Cumberland, Frostburg and other communities.

Fellowship Supper

Melvin Methodist Church, Reynolds Street, will have a fellowship supper tomorrow at 6 p. m. The supper will be a covered dish affair. An entertainment will be provided, according to Rev. B. F. Hartman, pastor.

Property Sold To SRC

A deed was filed today in the land records office at the Court House in which Raymond L. and Ida L. Shaffer transferred a property in the Corriganville area to the State Roads Commission. The property is needed for a highway improvement project.

Sink In Road Caused During Wet Weather

Harold Snyder, district engineer for the West Virginia Roads Commission, reports that a sink has developed on a part of the road from Short Gap to the Pinto area and urges drivers to exercise caution.

The sink, which is located where a deep fill was made in constructing the road a few years ago, will be repaired after the ground has been stabilized. Snyder said the wet weather has caused the sink. Flares are placed at night to warn motorists and signs are used in the daytime.

Singing Role Changes Made

A number of changes in the singing roles of "The Creation," to be presented Sunday at 3 p. m. in Allegany High School auditorium by the Cumberland Choral Society were announced today.

Mrs. Russell Fink, who had been assigned the role of "Gabriel," will be unable to appear. Mrs. Herman J. Smith, who was listed as a soloist, will sing the role of "Gabriel."

Mrs. Smith, a graduate of Westminster Choir College, appeared as a soloist April 11 with the combined Cumberland Choral Society and Civic Symphony Orchestra at a concert here.

James Hager will sing the tenor solo numbers in the production. He sang with the Choral Society last December. He studied voice at Western Maryland College and Frostburg State Teachers College.

Other main defense objections to the trial dealt with the photographs of the dead woman and with inconsistencies between the photographs and a draftsman's floor plan of the scene.

District Attorney Orban produced a letter from the New York Fire Underwriters, who employed Aurigemma. He said, according to the letter, Aurigemma was properly identified and had been an employee of the firm for 28 years.

Orban contended that Aurigemma's failure to tell Boden who he was had not violated Boden's constitutional rights in any manner. Boden, he said, was undoubtedly instructed by his attorneys not to say anything about the incident.

Orban stressed that because Boden did confide in Aurigemma the evidence was admissible. Boden, he said, could have as easily told any other cell mate the same story. Orban said that Aurigemma in his testimony merely repeated what Boden had told him.

Boden Seeks New Hearing In Somerset

Arguments Heard By Judge In Area In Slaying Case

Judge Thomas F. Lansberry of Somerset County, Pa., heard arguments Monday on a motion for retrial of Melvin Boden, convicted of first degree murder in the slaying of his wife last November 17.

Defense Attorneys Robert M. Keim and Fred F. Coffroth stated that the jury reached a guilty verdict on inadmissible evidence concerning crucial issues. The attorneys stated they had previously objected to introduction of this evidence but they were not sustained during the trial which ended March 22.

District Attorney Frank A. Orban, Jr., said there were no errors in the trial. He stated that the form of indictment in the Boden case has always been sustained in Somerset court. He cited a previous case in stressing this point.

Briefs Requested

Judge Lansberry instructed the defense and prosecution to file written briefs by Friday for further arguments and new evidence in the defense motion for retrial and arrest of judgment.

Boden, 37, of Rockwood, was convicted by a jury of eight men and four women, who recommended a sentence of life imprisonment. Boden had been accused of setting his wife Mary, afire in the bedroom of their Rockwood home.

Attorney Keim, spokesman for the defense, Monday said that the damaging testimony of undercover agents of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, Antonio Aurigemma, was a violation of Boden's constitutional safeguards. He said the agent was acting in the capacity of a police officer. As such, Keim contended it was the duty of Aurigemma to tell Boden he might be incriminated if he were to make a statement concerning the incident.

Keim further noted that there were inconsistencies in Aurigemma's statements. He also claimed that Aurigemma had not actually proven who he was. He had no papers on his person either during the trial or during the time he was in jail with Boden.

Other main defense objections to the trial dealt with the photographs of the dead woman and with inconsistencies between the photographs and a draftsman's floor plan of the scene.

District Attorney Orban produced a letter from the New York Fire Underwriters, who employed Aurigemma. He said, according to the letter, Aurigemma was properly identified and had been an employee of the firm for 28 years.

Commissioner Long Questions Hiring Non-City Residents

The City Civil Service Commission last night discussed a request by Finance Commissioner John J. Long relating to the employment of city personnel in regards to their residency, and has asked for a legal opinion from City Solicitor Thomas B. Finan.

In a letter to the commission, Long said it had come to his attention that George T. Beagle of Bedford, Pa., is a new employee at the Lake Gordon dam.

Long stated that the city's Civil Service law stipulates that police and firemen must be residents of Cumberland for three years, and that all other city employees must be residents for a period of two years.

Asks For Ruling

The commissioner wrote that he was aware that temporary and seasonal employees who are not residents of Cumberland are occasionally hired at both the airport (West Virginia) and the dam (in Pennsylvania).

Long also noted that there are permanent employees in both places who are not residents of the city, but who have completed many years of seniority and satisfactory work under Civil Service.

It is not his intention, Long wrote, to jeopardize the job status of such employees, but he believes the commission should seek a legal ruling on the hiring of new personnel, in regards to their place of residence.

Eligible Local Workers

There are eligible Cumberland unemployed workers, the letter pointed out, who would welcome consideration for jobs open in city departments, and some of the unemployed have approached Long on the opportunity of working out city taxes which are due on their properties.

Long concluded his letter by stating that the cost and maintenance of the airport and water dam is paid from tax money collected from Cumberland residents, and that he feels it is an obligation that Cumberland residents be employed when they qualify for jobs which are available.

No action, other than the request for the ruling by Finan, was taken by the commission, although it was brought out in the discussion that no hard and fast rule has been maintained on the employment of seasonal or part-time workers.

The commission also reviewed the applications of seven men who have applied for the position of policeman.

Mann Plans Area Tour

James H. Mann, Democratic candidate for Congress, will campaign in Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Criminal Appeals Start Tomorrow

Criminal appeals cases will be heard tomorrow and Friday in Allegany County Circuit Court by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris.

Judge Harris will also hear the case of Jerry Frantz, 23, city, who was sentenced to six years in the House of Correction on November 28, 1955 by former Chief Judge George Henderson on a larceny charge.

Frantz, who has been transferred to Patuxent Institution as a defective delinquent, is asking the court for a hearing to determine if he is a defective delinquent.

Major Crimes In Maryland On Increase

City Criminal Activity Lower In Two Categories

WASHINGTON — Maryland city crime rates showed increases last year in four major classes and decreases in two others.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation in a report released today said rates increased last year over 1956 in murders, robberies, aggravated assault, and larceny. Decreases in rates per 100,000 population were shown for burglary, breaking or entering, and for auto thefts.

The report said national averages for urban crime rates increased in all six classes listed in a continued upswing in major crime.

The report showed these increased rates for Maryland cities: Murder, from 6.3 to 8.1 per 100,000; robbery, from 70.5 to 75.5; aggravated assault, from 197.7 to 216.2; larceny-theft, from 1,131.2 to 1,138.2.

Reported decreases were burglary, breaking or entering, from 438.7 to 394.7, and auto thefts, from 562.9 to 445.5.

West Virginia Eyes Use Of 792 Teachers

Instruct Outside Certified Fields; Board Okes Bid

CHARLESTON — State School Supt. R. Virgil Rohrbough told the State Board of Education yesterday that about 792 teachers in the state have classes outside the fields for which they are certified.

He recommended that the board approve re-assignment, wherever possible, of such instructors.

The board, in the final session of its two-day meeting here, approved Rohrbough's proposal that county superintendents be required to write him and set forth why the situation exists in their respective schools, if it does, and request emergency licenses for the teachers involved.

Procedure Manual

A committee from the West Virginia Chapter of the American Institute of Architects appeared before the board to discuss a manual on procedure in handling school construction which it has prepared. The board had asked for the manual to obtain greater uniformity in its transactions with builders and architects, and also insure satisfactory work.

The committee was asked to present further suggestions at a later board meeting. The next meeting will be June 16.

The board concluded its meeting by approving $301,000 per year in salary increases at the nine state colleges it administers. The money, beginning July 1, will be used for college staff members, including a flat $625 more each year for 1958 of the colleges.

The 1958 Legislature boosted the nine state colleges' budgets and the operational appropriations for other state institutions under the board's control by 10 per cent of instructional costs. The added money was earmarked for personal services on a merit basis.

Board Member Joseph C. Jeffers Jr. of Charleston expressed an opinion in line with the additional money for staff personnel.

Urges Study Of System

Jeffers, following the board's affirmative vote to increase the salaries of the presidents and directors, urged a complete re-evaluation of the salary grading system at the institutions involved. He pointed out that enrollments and rates of growth differ greatly among the institutions and asserted that those which showed less present and potential significance for higher education in the state should have their executive pay scales altered accordingly.

Hugo F. Schunhoff, head of the Schools for the Deaf and Blind at Romney, and F. Ray Power, head of the State Vocational Rehabilitation Division, also were granted the $625 pay increase effective July 1.

The board's action on salaries for college presidents and directors of other facilities will boost the salary range to $6,625 for Schunhoff and to $13,625 for President Stewart H. Smith of Marshall College.

Presidents' salaries will become $10,000 annually at seven of the nine colleges. Dr. W. L. Wallace of West Virginia State will receive $11,000.

Marshall and Shepherd College did not apply with the board for 10 per cent increases for staff members. Marshall listed $5,000 to finance its summer session, while Shepherd earmarked $2,000 for the same purpose.

Services were held yesterday morning in Harrisonburg, and burial took place yesterday afternoon in Martinsburg, W. Va.

Gov. McKeldin Awaits Moves On Idle Pay

Reserves Judgment On Legislature Recall By June 1

BALTIMORE — Gov. McKeldin says he will do everything necessary to keep Marylanders from going hungry, but he is hopeful "we are going to come out of the recession without a special session of the Maryland Legislature."

The governor said yesterday he probably would call a special session if necessary to put into effect a proposed Federal extension of unemployment benefits.

He reserved judgment, though, on the request of Maryland labor leaders that he call a special meeting no later than June 1 should the Federal government fail to act.

Leaders of the Maryland and D. C. AFL-CIO met with the governor at his office in Baltimore. McKeldin endorsed, proposed Federal legislation which would extend unemployment payments in Maryland from the current maximum of 26 weeks to 39. But he said he is not yet prepared to take a position on the labor leaders' proposal to increase the amount of payments from the present maximum of $36.

W. F. Strong, president of the state labor council, and Charles A. Della, executive secretary, said their group wants distribution of free surplus foods in the counties.

The state's construction program also was discussed and James J. O'Donnell, director of the Department of Public Improvements, said every possible project will be taken to speed up.

McKeldin added, "We don't know of any place the construction program is being held up, but we will make every effort we can to make things move faster."

placed him on probation for six months.

In another case Magistrate Anderson reimposed a training school sentence on a 15-year-old boy who, he said, has been an habitual truant from school. The sentence was suspended and the lad was placed on probation for one year.

Kavanaugh Firm Destroyed; One Fireman Injured

BALTIMORE — Fire raged through a plant in the Curtis Bay area of South Baltimore late last night and destroyed the two-story brick and cement structure within 1 1/2 hours.

The fire in the plant, which houses the rendering operations of Kavanaugh Products, Inc., was discovered by a night watchman and Jack Bleivins, 26, Associated Press photographer from Columbus, Ohio.

Swarms Of Termites Danger Signals, Warns Hygienic Head

Robert E. Zimmerman Says Home Inspections Are Important

"This is the season for subterranean termites to swarm, and any evidence of a swarm is a danger signal that should not be ignored," reports Robert E. Zimmerman, Vice President of Hygienic Sanitation Co., Inc., Liberty Trust Building, Cumberland, Maryland.

"When termite swarms are detected," said Mr. Zimmerman, "there should be an immediate inspection of the property by a qualified termite control specialist. HYGIENIC is staffed by such experts. Cumberland area residents have learned to depend upon them . . . to have complete eradication of their ethical practice or business property. Cumulative and honest inspection re-herald area residents should telephone HYGIENIC SANITATION CO., INC., at Cumberland 4-0240. Out-of-town residents may call and reverse the charges."

"And remember, a HYGIENIC inspection is an honest inspection. We tell you if your home has termites, only if it really has. We value our reputation for integrity in dealing with the public."

specations are vitally important." "There is one type of termite in the Cumberland area," explained Mr. Zimmerman, "and it is the subterranean termite. The only adequate way to combat the subterranean termite is with treatment below first floor level," asserted Mr. Zimmerman. "HYGIENIC Chemicals not only eliminate the termites present at the time of treatment, but also form a barrier against the attack of the termite whose colonies are in the ground."

"One reason for the wide acceptance of the control measures used by HYGIENIC, is that our chemicals are not harmful to humans or warm-blooded animals, such as household pets. It is never necessary for occupants to vacate a home or place of business during a HYGIENIC treatment."

"In detecting, destroying and protecting against termites, HYGIENIC not only employs specially-trained operating personnel, but uses the most modern and finest pest control equipment on the market. We are constantly developing faster and more certain methods to combat the most destructive pests — including termites. It is the latest, more potent chemical."

"Each structure, regardless of construction material, should be inspected at least once a year."

Potomac State Production Draws Praise From Critic

KEYSER—Attending the dress rehearsal of "White Sheep of the Family," the unusual comedy drama that will be presented tonight at Potomac State College, Keyser, one is almost overwhelmed with the reactions provoked by the theme of this play which was first produced at the Piccadilly Theatre, London, in 1951, and which has had no U. S. performances except in summer stock—and now at Potomac State.

This is one play that might easily get too much attention from a reviewer—to the detriment of the cast. The theme is daring, and unless the production is keyed to a tongue-in-cheek presentation "White Sheep of the Family" could be frowned on as making crime a bit too easy and too attractive. It is good to report that Kenneth L. Haines, the director, and the excellent cast present this drama with accent on the comedy and with understanding of the general improbability of any family "getting away" with such a career as that chosen by the Winter family.

Superbly Directed
So, accepting the situation presented as a grand bit of spoofing (which it is) this is one of the most intriguing stage offerings you will see in many moons.

Superbly directed and staged by Haines (in an auditorium whose limitations we have noted in previous years) "White Sheep of the Family" is capably (in some instances brilliantly) acted.

Edward J. Williams and Isabelle Galuppo, as the husband and wife who are proud of their ancestral predecessors in forgery, pickpocketing and safe-cracking, provide stability and assurance for the whole cast.

They succeed in making the incredible situations acceptable. Their poised and deft acting is definitely an asset to the production. In a caricature portrayal of an aging and forgetful vicar, Harold L. Courtney is outstanding. His impersonation is a comedy highlight that will be remembered for years to come.

Sue Karickhoff, as the daughter in the unusual Winters family, performs creditably in her first stage appearance, and exhibits flashes of dramatic talent that lift her performance well above the average. The same evidence of a natural flair for dramatics characterizes the acting of La Rue Frey.

Play Unusual
As the son, "The White Sheep of the Family" who wants to "go straight," James J. Osborne is a forceful and competent. He presents a well conceived and cleverly balanced performance. In a comedy character role Rocco Palumbo rates the highest praise. There are numerous instances of his good timing and sense of values. R. Warren Eisenhower does an excellent portrayal of a detective inspector and keeps his dignity in situations where a less competent actor might appear too naive.

Margaret Frey has charm, poise and balance in the role of Peter Winter's surprising fiancée.

The action moves with near-perfect co-ordination and the ensemble scenes are remarkably well handled. The play is unusual, lots of fun, splendidly acted, and is sure to be a topic of area conversation the rest of this week. See it!—J.W.H.

Grand Jurors Indict Dixie Tavern Operator, Barkeep

KEYSER—The owner and bartender at Dixie Tavern on Route 28 near Wiley Ford were formally indicted by a recalled grand jury in Mineral County Circuit Court Monday for contributing to the delinquency of minors by selling beer to youths under 18.

The indictment of Orland Eugene Bradford, owner, and Roy Wilbert Murray, bartender, was approved at the regular session of the grand jury last Tuesday, but in some manner it was overlooked and was not signed by the foreman or the prosecuting attorney. As a result, the grand jurors had to be called back so the indictment could be signed, and the two formally indicted.

Before that action was taken, Judge Ernest A. See referred the grand jurors to the testimony given last Tuesday in the case of six area youths who were indicted for dragging Paul Roderick, 25, of Piedmont, on a street in Piedmont the night of March 24. Judge See questioned them in particular about the report that B. "A Little Suite for Band" Roderick had been paid $500 by Class C, "Triumphant Song for the youths for his injuries and Band" and Class D, "Merrill Barbera said that a parade is being planned through the business district following the audition and judging. The march will probably take place between 5 and 6 p. m.

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Thursday, April 23, 1958:
MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries)—Your stars indicate that all things may not be entirely pleasant now, so keep your cheerful side to the fore and keep yourself busy. Stay out of mischief a fine day for home and personal affairs.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus)—Astute efforts, work requiring finesse and some tricky personal matters may require more patience and efficiency than usual, but familiar pursuits, activities for which you have trained are favored.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—Mind races. Day neither wholly pleasant nor cheerful. Geniality and cooperation will help tremendously. Don't overdo or make careless promises.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer)—The Moon and Uranus are your most auspicious planets today. Surprising events, matters of an unusual nature, new adventures, new friends, new acquaintances, new activities, happy get-togethers.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo)—Self-control and sharp management are among requirements now. Be your usual steady, ambitious self to get good results, but don't override anyone. Be choosy, thoughtful.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo)—Heed advice to Gemini now. Your relations are similar. Cause to scan your schedule, see what plans are best to follow, then proceed as you confer. Accept some of the offers.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra)—Day may start slowly, indifferently, but grows better as it advances. Smart far-sightedness and efficiency will be rewarded. Remain cheerful. Don't have doubts about ultimate success.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 23 (Scorpio)—Don't count on too much outside help now. Go forward "on your own" whenever the day's obligations, clear up leftovers, where you can without strain. There may be benefits through new ideas, friends.

NOVEMBER 24 to DECEMBER 23 (Sagittarius)—Some advantages and fresh incentive for the eager and not-too-impatient. Highly favorable influences for necessary travel, meeting new clients, customers, etc. Be of good cheer.

DECEMBER 24 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn)—Look to your own affairs. If you take things calmly and philosophically, you will do all right. If you worry or fret, you will attain achievement.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius)—Uranus stimulating, surprising; also the Moon. You can really have a field day. But you must do your part, of course. Put forth your VERY BEST efforts.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces)—Grand Neptune rules. You are in for a very progressive period. So plan ahead and enjoy to the fullest your talents and all good offerings.

YOU BORN TODAY are strong, active and cheerily light-hearted when at your best. Yet you are courageous and fearless, especially in defense of loved ones, those you believe to be right. Yours is a splendid philosophy. You can be super-sensitive, too; you make delightful comrades, faithful intimates and parents. You are trustworthy, can handle difficult situations and tasks. But, being human, you must also learn to curb your faults. Do not be stubborn or self-willed. Birthdate: Anthony Trollope, famed novelist. (King Features, Inc.)

Bridge Table Silence Golden

Talkative Ted took one look at dummy and remarked, "Well, it looks as if we missed a slam."

Thereupon Ted proceeded to throw the game away through sheer carelessness.

He trumped the second club lead with the three of diamonds and played the ace of trumps. His idea was to draw trumps with two leads, cash his ace and king of hearts, get to dummy with the third trump and discard his queen and six of spades on dummy's two good hearts.

Unfortunately for Ted, East was unkind enough to show up with all three missing trumps and he could never get to dummy. He led out all his trumps and the ace and king of hearts in a valiant effort to recover but West was equal to the occasion and discarded down to two spades and a good club so Ted went down.

Ted made two serious mistakes. His first was to talk when he saw the dummy. In bridge silence is really golden. His second was to trump the club low. He could well have afforded to play one of his five honors. Then, the bad trump break would still have spoiled his slam but he would have made his contract of five.

After playing one high trump Ted could cash his ace and king of hearts and lead the three of trumps to dummy's six. East would take his nine spot but the eight of trumps would furnish an entry to dummy's two good hearts.

Fast Reader Sees Phrases And Not Words

By WARD CANNEL
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The machine looked like an oversized box camera, but instead of taking pictures it showed them—phrases of words flashing before your eyes at 1/100th of a second.

"This is," said reading expert Joan Stoddard, a "Tachistoscope." It's a training device to teach students to grasp longer and longer phrases in fractions of a second.

At the Reading Laboratory here, where experts teach the skill of fast, intelligent reading to people like us who have never learned it, the Tachistoscope is a nightly servant.

Reason: The fast reader sees phrases—not words.

Nevertheless, it is almost a law that most of us read each word of the stories in our newspapers. This means our eyes are stopping at least three times too often. And the result is that we are reading three times slower than we need.

It's all a carry-over, the experts say, from the days when we learned to read by reading out loud. But these old habits can be broken—with a pencil.

If you look closely at this story, you'll find that the individual words are held together by their broader meanings. These units of meaning are called phrases. And your eye and mind can be trained to grasp these units at a single glance.

The fewer glances, of course, the faster the reading.

Recognizing the phrases is half of the job. Seeing these units at

Phrase Reading

It's easy / to find the phrases / and mark them / with a pencil. Your mind / is familiar with these units / even if your eyes aren't. You'll find / that your mind / will race ahead / of your pencil and your eyes / and the phrases / will seem / to jump out at you.

HOW TO RECOGNIZE phrases is illustrated in printed diagram above. Young lady in photo is working with a Tachistoscope, a device which increases your visual span.

one glance is the way to faster reading.

In developmental reading classes, the portable Tachistoscope is used to teach fast phrase recognition. But you don't need it to increase your speed.

With your pencil draw a line down the center of this newspaper column. Let your eyes follow this line down and try to see as much of each line of print as possible.

You won't be able to see all the words on both sides of your line, but you'll get enough to give you good practice in quick phrase comprehension.

Your goal is faster and fewer eye pauses as you teach your eyes to keep pace with your mind. Test yourself to see how much practice you'll need in phrase reading:

Before you begin to read a news item (pick something easy), count out loud from one to five. When you reach five, go back and start counting again (it sounds a little like a chant), but this time begin to read the news story.

If you can get the sense of what you're reading while you're counting out loud from one to five, you are reading by seeing. But if the numbers get in the way of your comprehension, you are a word-by-word reader who needs to pronounce each word to himself in order to understand.

A few more techniques, and you'll have all the basic tools to make you a proficient reader.

Next: Space reading.
